

An Act of Valour

An act of valour, is not a favour
It need not be golden, nor shiny
It's unknown to many, can't be done by any.

It is to be just; it is to be impartial.
It is to be kind; it is to be ethical.
It is to love the prince and pauper alike.

Valour is to feed the beggar who hasn't eaten
Valour is to like those who the society doesn't
Valour is to raise the white flag when the other raise their guns.

It is selfless, it is pure
It is peace and it is the cure
To the horror that this world has sown
An Act of valour is not a favour.
